To Whom It May Concern:

It is an honor to write this letter of recommendation for Ryan Waldau. I have been his cooperating teacher in fourth grade at Hunters Glen Elementary School in the Adams Five Star School District this past semester. Ryan has a great passion and enthusiasm for working with children. He has demonstrated and completed teaching responsibilities in all curriculum areas as well as parent/colleague communications. Ryan displayed outstanding skill in planning lessons, classroom management, individualizing to meet student needs, and communicating with parents. I feel the tools and skills he has displayed reached beyond the standard. The classroom environment was enhanced by his positive attitude and abilities.

Ryan used multi-intelligence, brain strategies and assessment to guide him in his instructional plans. He displayed a great commitment to the educational field and his goal of becoming a teacher. He brought a wealth of background knowledge and experience to the classroom due to his past experiences of being a substitute teacher, his past experience helped him adjust immediately to classroom management techniques and/or behavior management for children. I appreciated his attitude and willingness; he is reflective in his teaching practice and responds well to feedback. He is conscientious of detail (such as district learning standards and classroom objectives) and demands high quality work from himself and his students.

I strongly recommend Ryan Waldau be added to your staff of teaching professionals. I believe he will be a great asset to the growth and development of children as well as your educational community. He is committed, organized, motivational, enthusiastic, pleasant, and has a great passion to teach. Please call me if you have any questions.

Professionally,

Ann M. Trosper
